THE NEW YEAR

Just what 1950 holds for us is at this moment rather difficult to assess... and this assessment is made even more difficult, because of the variety of objectives to which we aim. Of course most of us are in search of happiness as we understand it. But happiness, or contentment, if you wish, is not promoted or directly attached to any one particular condition or set of circumstances. Happiness appears, is more an ordination of the individual to his condition than it is of the condition to the individual. As St. Paul inferred when he said that he had learned to be content with the condition in which he was at the moment.

The Joneses, too have much to do with our contentment. A hundred years ago the average child got along very nicely without ice cream... but just try and prohibit any one child from eating it now. We all demand better clothes, better houses, better cars, and better working conditions that were quite satisfactory a few years back.

All this indicates progress, but indicates a progress which demands accomplishments in our economic field which will enable us to sustain that progress.

Just how well our economic situation is prepared to handle these demands is hard at the moment to estimate. Most everyone has missed a guess or two as to the post war economy. Not a few of us were convinced that a depression of some sort would have set in before now. We had visualized, with the return of the army boys and the ending of wartime industrial production, a rather apocalyptic unemployment situation. But so far nothing has reached a serious stage. There is unemployment it is true, but our minds are focussed on the employment situation so sharply that what we consider unemployment now has been in the past thought-of as just a normal situation.

The wave after wave of strikes, which have sent living costs skyrocketing and have cut by nearly fifty percent the value of money saved during the war, and of veteran's rehabilitation credits and gratuities, were one of the features which seemed destined to end our economic stability, but still somehow, prosperity is with us. Just to add to the forces which would tear down our economic situation we have for the past few years been "favored" with rather poor crops. But even this has not had the feared effect. Apparently our favorable conditions are able to uphold more economic momentum than we had thought, and perhaps we may even say be able, if we can reach the end of skyrocketing wages and costs, and decreased production, to maintain ourselves in some reasonable measure of prosperity, and avert the catastrophe which will wipe out the gains of the past ten or eleven years.

However, in this rapidly changing world we find ourselves faced with many factors which will only be surmounted with courage and most careful thought and action. We are faced first, with the loss of much of our British market. Whether or not we are prepared to trade with her on a more even basis, we must realize that Britain's prosperity has waned considerably in the past few years, and is very unlikely to again reach levels that were previously considered normal. The change in Empire conditions will have much to do with this. Then too, she was forced, during the war and in the post-war period to liquidate much of her holdings in foreign countries, and thus lose important sources of revenue. Growing industrial development on this continent, and in Canada in particular, has lessened the demand for the products of British industry, and thus further reduced her purchasing power.

Another substantial reason for Britain's poor economic condition is the fact that her industries badly require modernization. This coupled with the growing uncertainty of lost-in that country, puts her in a position where it is extremely difficult for her to compete with industry on this side of the water.

The ever-encroaching "Iron Curtain" is gradually shutting out more markets, and further hampering world trade.

Then we too have made the situation harder. In Canada, prompted by our desire for advancement, and by our aim to become more self contained, an aim which, by the way, receives much of its impetus from wartime conditions, we have made a great effort to expand our industrialism. Of course this brings us a great measure of prosperity, but at the same time it makes for greater and greater difficulty in establishing any form of balanced trade with those to whom we would sell our surplus farm products. Not only are Canadian made goods attractive to us, but Canadian manufacturers and industrialists can and have used their power to influence the government in their trade negotiations with Britain and other countries.

The problem that faces us in this connection is whether we should continue to snowball our industries at the expense of our international markets for farm produce, or whether we are better off to maintain a proper balance of industrial and agricultural production.

But back again to the waning British markets. We are certain that they will to some extent be atrophied. We must search elsewhere, but where? Again the Iron Curtain is in evidence, for it has drawn itself around the 400 million people of China, and is almost certain to engulf Japan. What of India? Will she too fall under the Bolshevik charm? Just now we cannot say, but this we do know—there are many, many millions of hungry people in India, and unless they are fed soon, they will be in a most receptive mood to the Russian overtures.

Perhaps nothing could better aid in keeping India out from under the "Curtain" than the lively development of a trade that would assist in the emancipation of her millions. This is without doubt a difficult objective, but it is one that must be given serious consideration.

There is much to cheer us. We are living in a world in which a large percentage of the people are in need of more food. We can produce more food, and do so consistently for many years to come. The market is there for us. But we must carefully consider the means by which that market can be developed.

Agriculture is Canada's basic industry, it is the keystone without which others must either suffer severely or fall altogether. Full cognizance of this fact should be given by those in charge of Canada's economic affairs if we are to continue to enjoy a reasonable measure of prosperity.

Joe Rutledge Says

By Joseph Lister Rutledge

WHERE LIES THE BLAME?

We hardly can be expected to present Ontario as a bad example so let's say that it is probably representative of Canada in its increase in motor accidents. We have tended to give our driving habits the benefit of the doubt by assuming that the increase—34.7% up for the first five months of 1949—was due to the increased number of automobiles. But that argument won't hold water. If it did, gasoline consumption would have kept pace with the accident toll. But it didn't. Gasoline consumption up 16.5%; accidents up 34.7 per cent. You can't lay the blame on congested city streets either. Cities are below the average of the province, a not-too-gratifying showing of 30.4%. Towns are the most deadly places, with an accident rate up 56.8% while villages showed 35.8 per cent.

Of highways, King's Highway showed up best, an increase of 22.3%. Township roads were next with 33.8 per cent and country roads 39.2 per cent. None of this is pleasant, and it is made less pleasant by the fact that the rising incidence of highway accidents is reported to result from carelessness and lack of compliance with the laws of the road; recklessness, and stupidity.

HUMANS INTO COGS

Some little time ago President Truman spoke some little, pleasant words about what he called "the word of the moment, Statism". He professed to be somewhat ignorant as to its exact implications. He hoped that somebody would enlighten him. Nothing daunted by top-flight uncertainty, Senator John Foster Dulles of New York under took the explanation, and produced, not only a definition but an arresting challenge for all free men. Said Senator Dulles: "Statism represents man's concept that he can build better than God. God created man and woman with great moral possibilities... But sometimes those in power lose faith in their fellow men. They take more and more of the fruits of human labor, so that they may, as they think, do more and more for human welfare... That process makes human beings into mere cogs in a man-made machine."

CENTRAL MORTGAGE AND HOUSING CORPORATION
201 Monarch Bldg.,
Edmonton, Alberta.
December 14th, 1949.
Mr. J. D. Wallace, M.D.,
Chairman,
Property Committee Council,
Wainwright, Alberta.

Dear Sir:

We acknowledge your enquiry dated December 1st, 1949, regarding the need for housing in Wainwright, Alberta. The program under which rental housing projects were constructed by this Corporation will not be available in 1950. However recent amendments to the National Housing Act make it possible for loans to be obtained for construction of houses with considerably reduced down payment. These may be built individually by contractors who obtain N.H.A. loans or in pre-arranged housing units. In addition individual citizens may obtain N.H.A. loans and may then have houses constructed for them under contract.

Generally speaking the loan would be in the neighborhood of six-sevenths of the cost of construction providing that cost is reasonable and the builder or owner would be required to provide one-seventh as equity. A variation of the standard plan is called the integrated housing plan. This provides for an agreement between the Corporation and a contractor agrees to build a specified number of houses under plan approved by the Corporation. He further agrees to sell these at a fixed price to purchasers who are acceptable as mortgagors. The Corporation on its part undertakes to assist the contractor to obtain necessary materials, by priorities, and also to buy the houses from him at a set price if he is unable to sell them within a specified time.

If there are any contractors in Wainwright, who might be prepared to consider building under such a plan I would suggest that you make arrangements for us to meet them and discuss the problem in detail.

On the other hand you might wish to interest some Edmonton builders in such a plan. Applications for individual N.H.A. loans should be in the form of a letter to this office at which time complete details as to the necessary application procedure would be supplied. I hope that this will give you a general idea of the type of assistance which the National Housing Act might provide for your citizens. I am sure that you will find it of interest.

THE WEEK AT OTTAWA
by the Canadian Press

A little three-letter word spoken twice last week in the Supreme Court may have an important bearing on the future of Canada's long drawn-out battle over railway freight rates.

In no uncertain terms the high court answered "yes" to two questions posed by the Canadian Pacific Railway. The questions concerned the Board of Transport Commissioners' decision last September to defer final determination of a railway application for a general 20-per-cent freight rate increase.

By declaring that the terms of the board decision constituted an "injustice" to the railways, the Supreme Court in effect told the Board of Transport Commissioners to review its Sept. 29 award of an eight-per-cent rate increase to the railways. In its award, the Board had said it was granting an immediate eight-per-cent increase, but that a final decision of the 20-per-cent application was being deferred pending the outcome of the current Royal Commission inquiry on transportation and a general freight-rate probe that the board itself has been carrying on for more than a year.

The C.P.R. had called on the highest court in Canada for a "yes" or "no" answer to these two questions: 1. Was it the duty of the board, on a railway application, to determine whether and to what extent a freight-rate increase should be authorized because of changing conditions or cost of transportation? 2. If so, did the board fail to perform that duty on the 20-per-cent application when it postponed final determination of the case for the reasons set out in its judgment?

All Agreed. Five Supreme Court justices, including Chief Justice Thibault, Rinfret, gave a unanimous "yes" to both questions. The court in a $500,000 judgment said it was up to the board to make its own determination on matters relevant to rendering a decision on the railways' application. It was "not competent to the board to await the investigation of such matters by some other body or to the passing by parliament."

We will be very happy to discuss the applicants or with groups from Wainwright.

Yours very truly,
J. BAUL RECKE
Assistant Manager.

passage of some future legislation with respect to them.

While the Supreme Court's ruling does not automatically change the board award, it does call for a review of the decision. This possibility will be undertaken once the court's opinion has been officially handed to the board.

The government-owned Canadian National Railways took part in the original rate application, but didn't join the C.P.R. in the appeal, is expected to get back into the case once it is reported before the board.

Informed sources said the railways themselves undoubtedly will go before the board in the near future to seek a final settlement of their application.

Appointments.

Prime Minister St. Laurent held a press conference in Ottawa last week and announced three major appointments in rapid-fire order.

Two men prominent in Canada's post-war spy probe were appointed to the Supreme Court of Canada. The new high court judges are Mr. Justice Gerald Fauteux of the Montreal division of the Quebec Superior Court and John E. Cartwright, prominent Toronto lawyer.

Mr. Cartwright was one of the leading counsel in the prosecution of the spy trials, while Mr. Justice Fauteux was the permanent delegate to the United Nations Dec. 31 when this country's term on the U.N. Security Council is over. He already is Canada's spokesman on the U.N. Atomic Energy Commission and chairman of the Canada-United States Joint Defence Board.

The International Joint Commission of which he becomes a member is a body of Canadian and U.S. representatives that deals with disputes arising out of the use of waters flowing in both countries.

No Leaks. The government, which has been complaining of leakage of information on the domestic front in government matters, must have felt heartened by the display of diplomatic secrecy put on in Ottawa last week.

Day after day officials of the Canadian and United States government met to discuss problems arising from attempts to implement the bilateral air agreement the two countries entered into last June. And not once did a single word leak out about the deliberations.

The talks were initiated by the U.S. state department after Colonial Air Lines of New York had been ordered to appear before the Canadian Air Transport Board and "show cause" why its Canadian license should not be cancelled for its actions in blocking one of the terms of the agreement.

By instituting legal action attacking the validity of the agreement, Colonial has successfully prevented Trans-Canada Air Lines from entering into competition with it on the rich Montreal-New York run—one of the air treaty's provisions.

At week's end the external affairs department announced the talks had been adjourned "until an early date" to allow each government time to consider the other's position in greater detail.

The announcement threw no light on the subject matter of the talks and still kept big question marks around the two issues at the core of the international problems:

1. When C.A.A. will be able to fly the Montreal-New York route. 2. Whether Colonial is going to lose its Canadian license to fly into Montreal.

KEEPING FIT

All of us, from childhood to old age, need a certain amount of exercise to keep fit and healthy. This does not mean that we all need to run a mile before breakfast or lift 100-pound barbells after supper. But moderate exercise improves circulation and body tone. It's fun to be fit.

Canadian Agriculture For Reviewed At Conference

At the Dominion-Provincial Agricultural Conference held in Ottawa, December 12-14, papers were presented reviewing the probable prospects for agriculture in 1950. The following is a digest of the papers.

World and Domestic—The total volume of world industrial and mineral production is now running at some 40 per cent above pre-war levels; expansion is still going on but at a slower rate than in 1948. Agricultural production has continued to recover, and this recovery combined with the dollar shortage points to possible difficulties in the disposal of some farm products, particularly by the hard currency countries.

Both the volume and value of world trade continued to expand in 1949 but the flow of trade remains badly out of balance. This lack of balance in international trade continues to be the central feature of the world economic picture.

The general price level of internationally traded commodities has declined somewhat over the past year. Since the United States accounts for nearly half of the world production and use of industrial goods, any appraisal of future international price trends must be based chiefly on prospective developments in the United States. The outlook there appears to be for lower commodity prices in 1950 as compared with the average for 1949.

In 1950 some further decline in total Canadian exports appears certain and the decrease in agricultural exports may be proportionately greater than for other commodities. The domestic market requirements should remain high, but in terms of general activity may not show the expansion necessary to offset the effects of declining sales abroad.

The domestic demand for farm products will continue on a high level through 1950 but the existence of a high level of supplies, due to a reduction in export outlets, may mean a decline in prices received for farm products. Since prices paid by farmers move downward more slowly, net farm income will be somewhat less in 1950.

Wheat—Total supplies of wheat for export and carryover in 1949-50 are 19 million bushels of which 236 million should be available for export. Lower moisture reserves in western Canada, satisfactory current prices for coarse grains together with the increased competition among exporting countries in finding outlets for surplus wheat may discourage any increase in wheat acreage in 1950.

Feed Grains—The net supply of feed grain per grain consuming animal unit available during the 1949-50 crop year is estimated at .53 ton, almost 15 per cent below the 1947-48 supplies. With reserve stocks expected to be at minimum levels by the end of the 1949-50 crop year, and with some increase in live stock positions expected, it is anticipated that the acreage needed to produce grains in 1950 will be at least maintained.

Live Stock—Marketings of live stock during the 12-month period ending September 30, 1949, are expected to remain at about the 1948-49 level with the exception of hogs, for which an increase is anticipated. Moderate reductions in prices may be expected with prices for hogs falling more than for other meat animals thus resuming a more nearly normal relationship with United States hog prices.

Dairy Products—Total milk production in 1950 may exceed slightly that of 1949. The demand for fluid milk and cream is expected to remain strong in 1950 with total consumption increasing slightly. The securing of an adequate contract for exporting cheese to the United Kingdom in 1950 should provide an outlet for milk which may be diverted from concentrated milk products and butter which will tend to stabilize the market for all dairy products.

Eggs and Poultry—The United Kingdom egg contract will be completed in December 1949 and as yet no decision with regard to future action has been taken. Requests for price support action by the Prices Support Board have been made and are under consideration. Lower prices for dressed chickens in 1949 and a continuation of current levels of feed prices into the middle of 1950 may result in a smaller supply of eggs.

BUY SEED POTATOES NOW

Good seed potatoes are scarce. The grower who neglects to make sure of his supply early may be faced with the alternative of using seed of unknown origin and this is something that the good grower will avoid at all costs. W. Lobay, Supervisor of Crop Protection, warns that in addition to its questionable quality, the use of such seed presents the danger of introducing bacterial ringrot—a disease that seriously threatens our rapidly growing potato industry.

Arrange to buy your seed potatoes without delay, but make sure first that you know something about the origin of the seed so that you may be in a position to judge its quality and freedom from disease. Growers who purchase certified seed are advised to do so, since its history is known and its quality assured. Those planning to use commercial stocks are urged to contact the Field Crop Branch of the Alberta Department of Agriculture at Edmonton for advice before buying. As a result of thorough inspection of seed tubers in past areas, the Field Crops Branch can supply useful information.

CARE OF CUT FLOWERS

If given reasonable care, cut flowers will remain fresh and attractive for many days. Keep them out of draughts at all times, suggests F. D. McCalla, Supervisor of Horticulture, Alberta Department of Agriculture. Don't expose them to bright sunlight nor place them too close to hot radiators. Change the water in the vases daily, and when changing cut off a small portion of the stem with a clean shaving cut. This cutting re-opens the water absorbing vessels and enables the flowers to take up a fresh supply of water.

It is often possible to revive flowers that show signs of wilting by plunging the stems into hot water and then placing them in cold water. Another method is to place the stems in deep cold water almost to the blossoms and keep the container in a cool dark place for several hours. There is no scientific basis for the belief that the addition of aspirin, salt or other chemicals to the water will prolong the life of cut flowers, says Mr. McCalla. Sprayed, bequeathed and other made-up arrangements to be worn or carried.

"Well, that's expecting an awful lot from an anesthetic," replied the annoyed nurse.

Working on a crossword puzzle, Mrs. Clark asked: "What is a female sheep?"

"Ewe," replied Mr. Clark and the battle was on.

The preacher had called his congregation together to pray for rain. As the service opened he stood in the pulpit and surveyed them with a scowl.

HEATH GOSPEL MISSION
GERALD
May 1950 be a happy prosperous and peaceful year for everyone.
The last Farm Forum meeting of 1949 was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Perkins with 14 members present. All enjoyed the broadcast and the discussion on the question is there a Farm Housing Problem? The features for improving farm homes that are most needed are water works, electricity and electrical appliances; gas for heating and cooking; remodeling of kitchens; painting inside and out. After the meeting all enjoyed a social time and then lunch was served by Mrs. Perkins.
Mr. E. Campbell arrived home for Christmas, after spending some weeks at MacLeod, Alta.
Miss Edith Perkins of Ottawa was a guest for the holiday season at the homes of her brother and sisters here.
Mr. E. Stephens and Gerald and Audrey arrived before Christmas to spend the Christmas holidays with Mervin.
Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Perkins last week were Mr. and Mrs. Rowe of Gladwyne and Mr. and Mrs. K. Harkus and two children of Riberg.
Mr. and Mrs. L. Mygland and Lorraine went to Edmonton on Dec. 24th to spend Christmas with their daughter, and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McClelland. Mr. and Mrs. Mygland returned home in a few days, but Mrs. Mygland went back to Edmonton on Thursday when Doris became ill.
An interesting Christmas Concert was held in Gerald school on Friday afternoon, Dec. 23rd. Miss J. Trotter and the pupils presented a varied programme of songs, recitations, plays, and carols to the audience of about twenty people who enjoyed the event. After the programme Santa Claus arrived and made many children happy with his distribution of gifts from the gaily decorated tree. Simple Free Book Helps Farmers To Figure Out Financial Standing

ASK AT THE BANK OF MONTREAL BRANCH FOR THIS INVALUABLE GUIDE TO HIGHER PROFITS

"The Bank of Montreal has reprinted, for free distribution, a special edition of the Farm Account Book prepared by the Dominion Department of Agriculture," Mr. Smith, local B. of M. manager, announced today. "Copies are available at our local branch."

"The book breaks down the complicated business of modern farming into simple records," Mr. Smith explained. "The farmer giving a few minutes daily to these records will know how each part of his work and property affects his profits. The book includes a permanent record of varieties, crop yields, and soil treatments."

"Prosperous farmers tell me their success depends on careful planning," Mr. Smith commented. "They emphasize that you have to know what pays you, what doesn't, and why. Keeping a Farm Account Book gives you this information with minimum effort. It helps you plan soundly to boost your profits. You can easily adapt the book to your own needs."

"MY BANK" B of M

DEPOSITS AT THE B of M HAVE Doubled in 10 years

—NOW TOTAL MORE THAN TWO BILLION DOLLARS

This huge sum is a tribute to Canadians' foresight and thrift.

Ten years ago, B of M customers kept a total of $448,945,350 in their savings and current accounts. During the war years, these people took the opportunity to boost their "Fund For Tomorrow" to $1,519,000,000.

Their habit of saving for the years ahead has not only persisted since the war but has gained in strength. Today, their deposits stand at more than two billion dollars—an all-time B of M record and the largest Canadian deposits of any bank. Of this money, well over a billion dollars is in savings.

The fact that the B of M's resources also have topped the two-billion mark during the past year proves one thing clearly—that the size of a financial institution such as the Bank of Montreal simply reflects the measure of confidence a million and a half Canadian men and women share in it.

And by thinking of tomorrow, these people are helping to build the Canada of today and tomorrow. For their savings determine the support the Bank can bring—through investments and loans—to the enterprise of men and businesses across the nation. Indeed, this year, loans made by the B of M are the highest they've ever been.

Working with the people of Canada for the past 152 years, the Bank has kept continuously before it these two guiding purposes—to assist actively the nation's economic development and to justify always the confidence of its depositors.

one for the Army and one for civilians. These lucky outfits will get a real oil well in the area and a lot of other oil wells will content themselves with "dusters". The Commission will probably win a hockey game and the first of July celebration will change its theme and be a real day once again. The Chamber of Commerce will continue with its good work and a new feeling of harmony will finally prevail among the residents and business men in the town. The farmers will have a better crop than they had this year. (It couldn't be any worse) and will try to increase the amount of mixed farming in the area. Everyone will get one year older and one year wiser and will try to improve the lot of the whole community. A few more of those hard bitten citizens who want to see things stay as they are will stop drag their feet and let the whole district move ahead a little faster.

There are only guesses but we'll bet most of them come to pass. So let's all get together again this to make it the biggest and best year yet for the Wainwright area.

RING IN THE NEW

Here's to the New Year, 1950. May it bring to every Canadian homemaker joy and enthusiasm in her problem of making life comfortable and pleasant for the members of her family. Every New Year brings innovations and improvements in household equipment to facilitate the performance of daily tasks. One of these is the pressure saucapop.

RECIPES

For those who, since Christmas, have been a proud possessor of a shiny new pressure saucapop as well as those who may not have been making the best use of their cooker the home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, have a few words of advice. The pressure saucapop may be a most willing servant but it is also a rather demanding monarch, for the cook must recognize all its requirements and peculiarities.

Cooking under pressure speeds up cooking-time and often allows for cooking several foods at the same time. It is absolutely necessary to read carefully, all directions given by the manufacturers. Each make of saucapop is different and requires slightly different handling.

Keep an eye on the indicator and see that the pressure is not too high. Some foods are better when the cooker is cooled quickly, others may continue to cook as the cooker cools, thus saving heat.

This is the precision method of cooking—limited to the second. Over-cooking may take but a moment. Never overload the cooker, it should never be more than two-thirds full. Another word of warning is "never lift the weight of indicator (if the cooker has one) or try to open the saucapop until the pressure is down to zero."

Tougher meat may be made into delicious stews and pot roasts in less than half the time. Baked custards are often considered difficult to make. That creamy smooth consistency with no sign of curdling may be attained by cooking in the pressure cooker.

Custard — Pressure Cooker Style

4 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 cups milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
Beat eggs until light. Add sugar and salt, blending well. Scald milk and slowly add to egg mixture. Add vanilla. Beat well, pour into greased, individual moulds or one large baking dish. Cover each mould with two layers of waxed paper and tie securely, place water in saucapop and place moulds on rack. Cover and allow all air to escape. Cook at 15 pounds pressure for 4 minutes. Cool cooker quickly.

Old Fashioned Boiled Dinner

ARNITARATES KASHMIR DISPUTE

Canada's A. G. L. McNaughton, chairman of the United Nations Security Council for the month, is shown here as he works so his status of the state of Kashmir, which was occupied by the Dominion of India. Sardar Ibrahim-Khan, left, president of Azad Free Kashmir, here, gives McNaughton what looks like a fraternal handshake. Centre, McNaughton is further complicated by an attack on President Truman and British Prime Minister Attlee by Dr. Oldrich Chyis, representing the conformist states, who charged the U.S. and British leaders with interference in the Kashmir dispute.

Canada's Health

A QUICK WAY
Immunization takes only a few seconds. It is painless, and generally there is no unfavorable reaction. Immunization gives practically 100% protection against diphtheria and whooping cough. You can't afford to deny your child this protection.

THE ELUSIVE VITAMIN

Vitamin D is necessary for the development of strong bones and teeth and the prevention of rickets. This elusive vitamin is not found in sufficient quantities in normal diet and must be supplied in the form of capsules, liquids or tablets. Every child needs Vitamin D every day, winter and summer, throughout the growing years.

THEY CAN BE CURED

Many cases of early cancer can be cured, but chances of cure are lessened by time. If you suspect cancer, see a qualified physician at once. Only competent medical treatment can cure this disease. Don't let fear of expense and lost time prevent you from seeking early medical aid.

WORLD OF WHEAT

MARKETS LIST

The fears recently expressed by the Hon. Mr. Gardiner that Britain would seriously curtail her purchases from Canada for such things as eggs, bacon, fruit, salmon, cheese and newspaper have been confirmed. This has all resulted in severe disappointment. It will no doubt result in considerable loss of revenue to our prairie farmers. To make it easier for producers of bacon it has been agreed that Britain's present contract to take 140 million bushels of wheat from Canada this year will be changed that a number of millions of bushels of wheat of this contract will be cancelled, and that the money so saved will be devoted to Britain to the purchase of at least some bacon. This will help bacon producers, but will be at the expense of our wheat producers.

These are the kind of disappointments that one expects with government contracts. It always has happened in the past and no doubt always will in the future. Those who support and make such contracts apparently do not realize that the worldwide conditions which prevail when the contracts are made do not last very long and so eventually both prices and terms of the contract become out of line with worldwide conditions; then either buyers or sellers are disappointed and harmed.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

In Europe barley production is now estimated at 675 million bushels, compared with the pre-war average of 687 million bushels. Oat production in Europe is set at 1,215 million bushels, 15 percent lower than the pre-war crop of 1,411 million bushels.

Turkey, because of her recent bad harvest has purchased some 1,665,000 bushels of wheat from Syria. Persia has purchased some 4,995,000 bushels of wheat from the United States and also 3,390,000 bushels of wheat from Russia to help supplement her own poor harvest.

In South Africa the area sown to wheat this year is 2,504,000 acres compared to last year's plantings of 2,465,000 acres.

LEGENDS OF HOLLY

Many beliefs are connected with the Christmas holly. Legends relate that the crown of thorns was placed from the holly, the white berries turning red like drops of blood after the crucifixion. It is said that whoever brings the

A Time for Realism

(Alberta Wheat Pool Budget)

Those who deprecate government participation in the marketing of farm products, fail to appreciate the changed conditions brought about by two world wars. They are still living in the Victorian era when Great Britain was the richest and most powerful nation in the world and the horse and buggy the most common means of transportation. People hither and yon. This is an entirely different and much more dangerous world we are now living in. Government participation in business is an established thing. Under present conditions international trade could not function otherwise.

It has been stated that Canadian agriculture has recently suffered severely through the federal government's participation in the marketing of farm products. The facts of the situation do not bear that statement out. World War II ended nearly four years and eight months ago. During that period the prices of most farm products have been fairly well maintained. This has been due to government participation.

Three years after the end of World War I the prices of farm products were "on the toboggan". The following table giving farm prices of principal products shows what happened in that period.

Wheat	1.92	1.77
Oats	.75	.56
Barley	.97	.45
Rye	1.41	.55
Hops	34.00	11.50
Corn	75.00	31.00
Milk Cows	107.00	42.00
Sheep and Lambs	15.00	6.90

The free market was allowed to operate without government interference in that period. The calamitous drop in prices as illustrated by the above table resulted in a serious depression. The cut in the buying power of the farm people resulted in unpaid debts, taxes, and loss of farms. The sheriff was the busiest man in each community.

This condition of course, was reflected in towns and cities. Business failures were commonplace and widespread unemployment resulted in much want and misery.

Government participation in marketing in the years following World War I resulted in stability for farm prices and in general business. The unfortunate recent debate in egg prices shows what would have happened in all farm commodities without government assistance.

The United States is considered the last great citadel of free enterprise in the world today. Yet the government of that nation is definitely committed to a policy of farm price maintenance. The price of corn for instance is provided with a floor of $1.40 a bushel farm price. Under a free market with enormous supplies on hand in that country, the price might well be 50c a bushel.

Europe historically is the great market for North America's surplus food products. With most nations on that continent on the verge of bankruptcy and with Soviet Russia threatening to extend her influence to the Atlantic ocean, Europe must be fed and re-established economically. That cannot be done by the farmers of the United States and Canada. It must be done by governments.

Sports Camera

The Ontario Hockey Association—one of the biggest amateur breeding grounds for future National Hockey League material—is fairly representative of most amateur hockey unions.

For that reason a recent incident in its ranks appear to have been passed over rather lightly. A certain judgment passed by the O.H.A. executive could possibly be quoted in the future as a precedent.

The executive ruled that Windsor Spitfires, in second place in the Junior A series at the time, should have nine victories taken from their credit for using ineligible players. The decision was the result of the Spits using four branch-to-branch imports in 10 games, of which they won nine. The four—Ervin Grosse, Glen Hall, Eddie Joss and Bob Turner—all came from western Canada.

Under O.H.A. rules a Junior A club is allowed two imports. Grosse and Hall qualified but Joss and Turner made two over the limit. Both from Saskatoon, Sask. they had been transferred from the west to play with Windsor's Junior B entry.

Now comes the two strange aspects of the entire affair.

Although it was common knowledge in the league that the Spits were using four imports on their Junior A team, no protest was made by the other league clubs. The O.H.A. decided to investigate the matter itself. The second unusual matter that

FROM RADIO TO THE BOOKSHELF

"Stirring interpretations of Canada"—That is how Dr. W. Sherwood Fox, president emeritus of the University of Western Ontario, describes the recently-published book, John Fisher Reports—a selection of thirty radio croquet up was the executive's ruling. The nine games were ruled as "no contests" and the team through the loss of those points automatically dropped from second spot into seventh place.

Actually the club was given a suspended sentence because the executive said the winner of Windsor's next seven games would receive four points instead of the usual two. An eighth game would be a six-point affair. Then, too, the individual scoring records were left as they were.

This appears to be a mild penalty for the offence and amateur hockey clubs in other parts of the country might easily seize on the precedent if they ever run up against the same sort of muddle.

An interesting bit of news came out of Regina recently. Al Pickard, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, was quoted as saying the C.A.H.A. rules committee, in order to "get rid of the modern tendency to shoot the puck into the corner and then skate after it," almost inserted a script broadcast during the last three years by the C.B.C.'s roving reporter. In this photograph Dr. Fox (right) is seen with the author, examining a copy of the new book which contains a foreword by Dr. Fox. Mr. Fisher speaks on the C.B.C. Trans-Canada network every Sunday.

Pickard said the committee anticipated some difficulty in defining what exactly was a shot in the corner and so shelved the matter. But in that statement older hockey fans took heart that they would soon be seeing the pattern plays of yesterday.

That is, if the C.A.H.A. and N.H.L. get together and make the rule. President Clarence Campbell of the pro league came out and contradicted Pickard's stand. Campbell said the shooting of the puck was not prevalent in the N.H.L. and, besides, the present game was faster, more skillful and better to watch. The question is open to argument but only time will answer it.

MAKE JOBS EASIER

Do you ever stop to analyze your movements for an average day on the farm? A little time spent in planning may save a lot of time that you regularly waste—through habit! Depend on the efficiency of your present methods, your new work program may be merely a matter of dropping a few unnecessary movements or it may mean a wholesale rehanging of the whole work program.

List your activities in the order in which they consume time, suggests C. A. Cheshire, Extension Agricultural Engineer. Choose from this list the chore that takes the longest time and break it down into its separate parts. Analyze each portion of the work that goes to make up the job with a view to reducing or cutting out some of the steps. Find out how others perform the same task, and finally draw up and use a new procedure that will include any short cuts or labour saving kinks that appeal to you.

Don't expect to see a marked improvement immediately, cautions Mr. Cheshire. After all, you have had years of practice at the old method so you should at least be prepared to give your new practice a fair trial.

Write down the advice of him that loves you, though you like it not at present.

If you don't aim high you will never hit high.

HEATH

The Heath school Christmas concert was held at the school on Thursday evening before Christmas. A large audience enjoyed the children singing recitations and dialogues. When the program was over Santa arrived and after a few jokes he distributed gifts and treats to the children as well as some of the grown ups. A delicious lunch served by the school children brought the evening's entertainment to a delightful close.

Eliza, Irene and Clement Froehner of Bruderheim were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Bouché the week before Christmas when they came to attend the concert at Massey school put on by their brother, Mr. C. Froehner who is teaching there. The morning after the concert they accompanied their brother home where he spent the holidays.

On Wednesday evening December 31 the students who are boarding at the Wainwright dormitory held their annual Christmas party to which their parents were invited. The parents of this district who have children staying there were able to attend the party where they enjoyed a most pleasant evening.

The Heath Gospel Mission faithfully observed Christmas day by holding a special Christmas service in the afternoon. Mr. Murray Coleman, a Bible student at Three Hills and a former pastor here of last summer, gave the message.

Mrs. H. H. Smith of Edmonton spent part of the holiday visiting at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. K. Meester as well as with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. Smith of Edmonton.

Doreen and Murray Challenger of Edmonton were visitors at the Patterson home for several days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Bouché of Edmonton spent Christmas with Mrs. Bouché's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Ford.

GORDON-TRIBE WEDDING

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Tribe, brother of the bride. Approximately thirty relatives and friends gathered. The bride table was set with a blue table cloth, centered with a beautiful three-tiered wedding cake and candles flanked each side.

A toast to the bride and groom was proposed by Mr. A. Pickard, to which the groom suitably replied.

By a coincidence the happy occasion was on Bluth Tribe's twenty-second birthday.

Later in the evening a dance was held in Bloomington hall, at which a large number of friends gathered to join the happy couple in celebrating the event.

At midnight, lunch was served and Mrs. Dorland in a brief address expressed the congratulations of those present to the bride and groom. At the same time she presented them with a purse of money as a token of good wishes.

Out of town guests were: Miss Phoebe Bartlett, of Edmonton, sister of Mrs. T. W. Tribe, Mr. W. Semple, of Chauvin, and Mr. and Mrs. Hughes. The best wishes of the community are extended to the happy couple for many years of health and happiness together.

PROSPECT VALLEY

There is very little to say about the weather except that it has been very cold.

There have been two whist drives this week. One at Battle Valley on December 7 and one at Bloomington on December 20. At Battle Valley there was a very nice, sized crowd and prizes were won by: Ladies, Mrs. Rose Gordon (nee Tribe) Mrs. Olive Leskov and Mrs. Barbara Davis, Gentles, Miss Johnston, Cecie Bengtson and Ralph Dorland. At Bloomington there were 41 players present. Prizes were awarded to Ladies, Luella Tunney, Edie Tunney and Bernice Taylor; Gentles, Lyle Alwood, Bill Leskov and Barry Marshall. The next whist drives will be at Pelican and Battle Valley on January 7 and 14 respectively.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sayer and Harry spent Christmas in the city returning Wednesday, Dec. 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sayer of Calgary visited the R. Sayer home for Christmas, returning on the 28th. They picked George up at Wainwright. George returned to Edmonton where he is working on December 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorland and children spent Christmas day with Mr. and Mrs. J. Smith (the latter's parents) and family.

Lyle Alwood has been doing chores for Lacey's while they were away.

Porter Lake school children and teacher provided the district people with entertainment on Thursday, Dec. 28, with their Christmas concert. After the presents had been handed out candy bags were given to the small children and apples and oranges passed to the adults. Battle Valley's concert was held on December 23rd. It seems the concert was good for only having seven pupils.

David Sayer has now caught eight coyotes having caught four in the last two nights.

Mary Sayer returned to work on December 30 taking Nicky with her.

Her brother David drove her over with the car and reported the roads in good condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sayer and Mary visited Melvin Gabelston in McLaughlin. He is still in the hospital.

We are sorry to hear that Hansel Rode is now nearly back to normal but is still in quarantine.

Bobby Smith returned to Edmonton on December 28 after spending Christmas day with his parents.

Wedding Bells

GOEDE — PIERCE

A wedding of interest was held on Wednesday, December 14th in the Westminster Presbyterian church, when Elva Margaret, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Pierce, and Melvin Arthur Goede, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Goede, were united in marriage. Reverend H. Groves performed the ceremony.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father. She wore traditional white satin with lace yoke and collar and lace trimmed paillettes on a full skirt. The gown also featured a pointed collar. She wore a chapel veil and her only jewelry was a gold locket and a gift of the groom. She carried a cascade of roses and carnations with a gold brooch attached.

Attending her were her sister Owen as bridesmaid and Mrs. J. Veltch as matron of honor. They wore similar gowns of taffeta in blue and rose respectively, with elbow length gloves of white nylon. Both wore headbands of gardenias and carried bouquets of roses, carnations and baby nuns. They each wore a two-strand pearl necklace, gift of the bride.

Little flower girl Rosanna Goede, niece of the groom, wore yellow nylon draped up over yellow taffeta. She wore wrist length white gloves and carried a basket of sweetheart roses.

Ring bearer, a small heart shaped locket gift from the bride and a wreath of gardenias in her hair.

Mr. Montague Blome, nephew of the groom, was best man and ushers were Mr. Irvin Goede and Mr. Ezra Fahner.

A. E. Keith played the wedding music and Mr. Thomas Wercowski sang "I Love You Truly".

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Pierce chose a grey afternoon dress with burgundy accessories and a corsage of Tallman roses. Mrs. Goede wore a two-piece wine gabardine suit dress with black accessories and a corsage of Tallman roses.

One hundred and twenty five guests were received at the bride's home following the ceremony. A three-tiered wedding cake centered the bride's table which was decorated in pink and white streamers. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. T. Rude, uncle of the bride.

Leaving for the wedding trip the bride changed to a light blue gabardine suit with navy accessories.

A wedding dance well attended completed the day.

Out of town guests included Mr. W. Goede of Jackson, Minnesota; Mr. and Mrs. T. Rude of Provost; Mr. J. Veltch of Wainwright.

The reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Paton, sister of the groom, where about 25 guests sat down to a sumptuous wedding supper. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, made and decorated by Mr. William Paton.

Mr. Malcolm Porter proposed the toast to the bride, which was ably responded to by the groom. After the table was cleared the bride opened the wedding gifts and thanked everyone for the many lovely presents she received.

The happy couple then motored to Rimbstone to spend Christmas with the bride's parents. They will make their home in Calgary.

New Years Message

1950 AND YOU
(by Dan Smuland, pastor South Ribstone Gospel Tabernacle.)

On January 1, each one of us will receive a rather mysterious gift. It will be the NEW YEAR we shall call 1950. It will be something very new, something about which we really know nothing at all more abundantly.

Of course we shall want to treat this brand new gift with special care. We shall wish to be careful each day of the year, how we live. And then, on next Dec. 31, as we watch the year pass out we can think that we have lived through it in a way that made it successful and happy.

Your treatment of the gift of 1950 will depend largely upon your rejection or acceptance of the greatest gift, the Lord Jesus, whose birthday we have just commemorated. For it is He Himself, who said, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." John 1:10. This eternal, supernatural, Divine life is not the property of man at natural birth, but it has its beginning when a soul receives the "new birth" or "regeneration" and thus through accepting the Lord Jesus Christ becomes a new creature in Christ Jesus.

When this Divine life controls our desires and thoughts then we shall have a different conception of what it means to have a successful and happy New Year. To the world, Success means health, wealth and prosperity. To the Christian success means to live a consecrated, surrendered and obedient life for God. Happiness to the world depends upon the things which happen. To the Christian true joy is found as a result of complete trust in God. Who has promised to work all things together for good to all that love Him.

As we begin the New Year it is an opportune time to realize that our days are strictly limited and that the opportunities of fellowship with the Lord and service for Him are few. Before us are the possibilities of as many as 365 days of joyous service; and if they are well used, a year from now we shall be stronger in the Lord and by so much more a veteran of His wonderful service.

It is this to be a year of victory, it must first of all be a year of confession, of frank facing our sins day by day, so that they may be confessed to the Lord and put away. Then we will be in the position where we can pray fervently and expect mighty blessings to faith.

What are you going to do with it?

"You presumptuous young whippersnapper! You have the colossal nerve to ask for my daughter's hand? Will you be so good as to tell me how you expect to give her what she's been used to?"

"Well sir, I—er—think I can. I've got a bad temper myself."

Drive not the second nail till the nothing fast.

as which brought to evening to a close. Miss Betty Allan is home from Vermillion; Agriculture College for the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. V. Mow was a recent visitor to Edmonton and Glenora.

It has indeed been a pleasure to serve you during the past year.

For 1950 we wish you all happiness and prosperity.
